

TOP SECRET

Director's Meeting

Tuesday, 24 April 1951

The Director raised the question of the disposition of blown agents. He suggested to Mr. Dulles that a thorough review be made of our process in this connection and that the chiefs of missions be appropriately briefed.

Mr. Wolf said that he would know by the end of the week whether we could forestall partial moves into I & J buildings prior to our move to the [REDACTED]

There was discussion of the regulation on the PRC. The Director said that he considered the regulation too formal and that he saw no necessity for projects being channelled through the comptroller. He suggested that the regulation be briefed and that the Assistant Directors be asked simply to prepare a brief statement of the project, to be forwarded to the Executive Assistant who will call a meeting of the committee as promptly as required. The statement should show that coordination with other offices had been accomplished. There was discussion as to whether an Assistant Director, in addition to the deputies, should be a permanent member of the committee.

There was extended discussion of the [REDACTED] and the Director stated that he wanted the Department of State to make a decision on its practicability and to indicate to him that it had the approval of the Secretary of State.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

The Director said that Mr. Pace was considering naming Riley Ennis as G-2 in the Far East and that we are obligated to find a job for [REDACTED]

Mr. [REDACTED] reported on the trouble with defectors [REDACTED] and said that it was receiving the consideration of the [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]